

Hey Jennily,

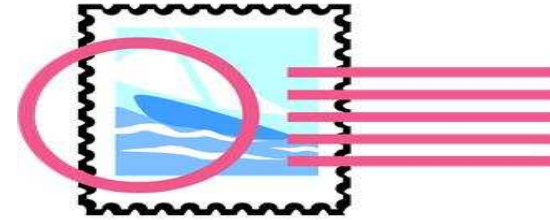

Right now I am writing you this postcard ,but a while ago I was touring the Southern England Megaliths called Stonehenge, it was very interesting to see the huge rocks in a circle formation and all stacked up.

Can you believe the Stonehenge was built over 4500 years ago, and most of the it is still standing up to-day? Oddly some of the rocks are broken, fallen, and even disappeared! I wonder were the rocks went...Did you know that most weighed about 45 tonnes? To me, that's pretty big! According to scientists Stonehenge was use for religious ceremonies. Pretty cool!

Well I had a lot of fun but it wasn't as fun without you!

See you Best,

K.Nuguid
